

In the year 2000, Dr. John and Lorry Hache were trained by the Russians in the art of SCENAR therapy. Since then they have trained more than one thousand therapists and lay people in the use of this marvellous pain management device throughout North America and parts of Europe.

Their unique style of training reflects the decades of dedication to their clients in their own clinical practices as a Doctor of Natural Medicine and Homeopath with a background in Traditional Chinese Medicine for John as well as that of Doctor of Psychology and Biological Medicine for Lorry.

John A. Haché: DNM
Dr. Haché has been in practice for over 25 years. He received his Doctorate from the Examining Board of Natural Medicine Practitioners as well as Board Certification as a Biofeedback instructor from the Neurotherapy and Biofeedback Certification Board (NBCB). He is also certified by the License Commission of the Americas and acknowledged by the Russians as one of the world's best trainers in SCENAR technology.

Dr. Lorraine Ann Vanbergen-Haché Psy.
Dr. Vanbergen received her Doctorate of Complimentary Health as well as Doctor of Psychology while living in Great Britain.

Among their distinguished clients: Patrick Jenkins, Trainer for the Huskies of the Washington University, Sam Ramsden trainer for the Seattle Seahawks, T Harv. Eker (Millionaire Mind), Céline Dion productions, Professor Richard Berger M.D., University of Washington Medical Center department of Urology, California Institute for Human Sciences (CIHS), Capital University, Washington D.C., Jeff Spencer Tour de France team - Discovery Channel.

"In fact, the Scenar is part of a family of devices that will completely change the face of medicine in the next 20 years. This device is rapid, portable, affordable and effective in nearly all conditions, sports injuries, cerebral congestion, headaches, chronic infection, backache and digestive tract problems (including premenstrual syndromes and post-surgical complications) and even cardiac defibrillation!"

—Dr. Keith Scott-Mumby MB ChB, MD, Ph.D., FRCP (MA) author of "Virtual Medicine"

To learn more, contact us today.

Space Medicine Has Landed

LEADERS IN NON-INVASIVE PAIN MANAGEMENT

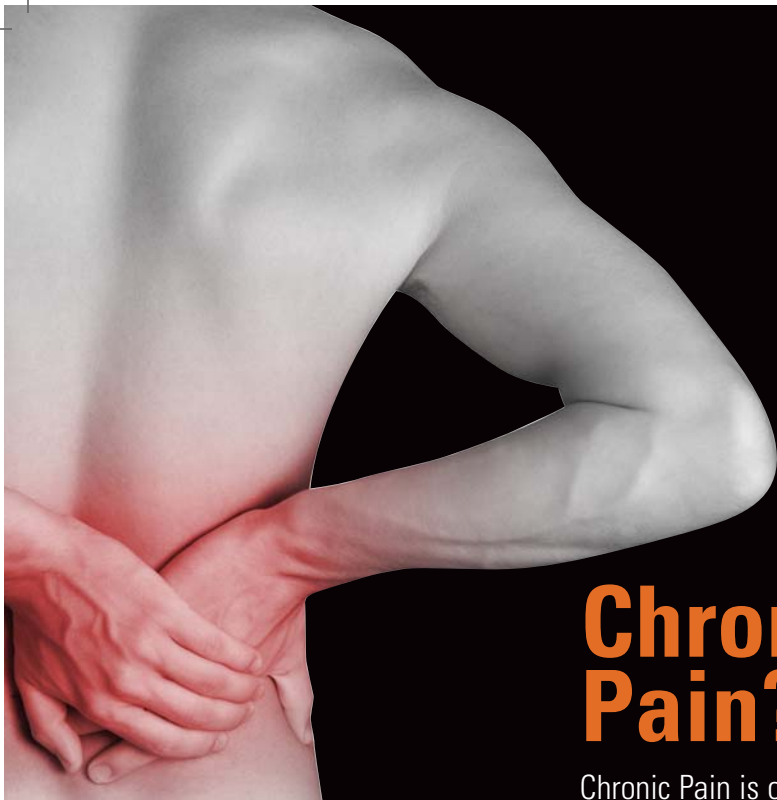

www.PacificHealthOptions.com

The RITMSCENAR is approved by the FDA as a medical device capable of addressing physiological disorders such as pain management and muscle re-education through biofeedback.

CEO@PACIFICHEALTHOPTIONS.COM - PACIFICHEALTHOPTIONS.COM

Chronic Pain?

Chronic Pain is one of the most pervasive and intractable medical conditions in the U.S., with one in five Americans afflicted.

RITMSCENAR Expert

A revolutionary device

RITMSCENAR Personal

Has automatic pain treatment mode, modulation of time (3:1), Frequency Modulation and 4 Levels of frequency (14 Hz, 60 Hz, 90 Hz and 340 Hz)

- Automatic shut-off
- Powered by single 9V battery
- 18 month warranty

RITMSCENAR Expert

Comes complete with 3 levels of stress detection through Galvanic Skin Response (GSR), Damping of signal, modulation of time, Emergency Mode, Frequency change (15 – 350 Hz), Frequency Modulation, Intensity and time between spikes. Also has:

- backlit screen;
- programmable treatment choices;
- built-in digital timer;
- power level and battery indicator;
- 18 month warranty.

Are you tired of suffering from lower back pain, shoulder and neck pain, joint pain, knee pain, fibromyalgia, any kind of pain. At last, someone has come UP with a solution that really works.

A revolutionary new device called the RITMSCENAR that was developed by Russian scientists for their space program is taking pain head-on, all without drugs, adverse effects, addiction or surgery.

After more than 10 years of development behind closed doors, the secret project was to emerge in time for the launch of the "MIR" space platform, in the mid 80's. This was to be the solution that would replace all forms of medication in space and eventually lead the way for a better understanding of and a better approach to all sorts of pain.

The solution had to be able to solve all forms of pain in outer space, whether acute or chronic intractable pain.

Testimonial

While dancing on Broadway, I had an accident on stage that caused me to roll over my right ankle with my full body weight and I crawled off stage never to return to professional dancing again. A year and a half later I had right ankle surgery where my ligament was cut and re-attached to tighten it. I no longer walked with pain, but other complications arose. My calf, thigh, and foot muscles stopped engaging the way they used to and I couldn't continue even taking dance classes. After 20 minutes of using the Home Scenar,

The mind sets the level of pain, so where else but in the mind does the secret to pain lie? From the potential of this model, they sought a way to affect the way the brain interprets pain by stimulating the efferent nerve follicles that bring information from the painful area to the brain. To achieve the desired results they developed an electrode-mounted computerized device the size of a remote TV channel changer.

This technology called "Star Trek Medicine" by popular European media is now within our reach.

The SCENAR is now used throughout the world by professional athletic organizations, medical and health centers as well as specialists in the treatment of pain; surgeons, orthopedists and doctors.

RITMSCENAR Personal

the feeling of impingement was gone! And after two 20 minute sessions on my calf, foot, and thigh, the muscles started engaging again! Three weeks later, I danced a piece in a concert complete with jumps, and throwing my partner in the air and catching her and my foot, ankle and calf never entered my mind even once. I felt like I had wings again! I am so grateful!!!

—Jeff Elsass